What your Allied Health Assistance session might look like

Arriving at the session

When I arrive I might have to wait for the Allied Health Assistant to finish a session. So I wait in the foyer until they come over to greet me.

The Assessment

They ask me to move different body parts to see how I'm doing. It's like a fun game!

Exercises and Activities:

I do exercises with their help. They might use cool equipment like bands or soft balls.

Doing My Best:

I try my best, but it's okay if it's hard. They make it easier if needed and support me.

Homework:

Sometimes, they give me exercises to do at home to get even stronger.

Saying Goodbye

We say goodbye, and I might get a high-five. I'm doing great and getting stronger every day!

Your session will last for 1 hour

Allied Health Rules

3 rules for your session

1

Try Your Best: Your therapist will give you exercises and activities to do. Try your best, but don't worry if something is hard. They understand, and they can make things easier if you need it.

2

Listen: When your therapist shows you what to do, listen carefully and follow their instructions. They are there to help you get stronger and feel better.

3

Ask Questions: It's okay to ask questions if something is unclear or if you're curious about what's happening. Your therapist is happy to explain things to you.

With these rules in mind, you'll have a great Allied Health appointment and work towards becoming even stronger and healthier.

You're doing great!

Break

If you need a break, you can ask your therapist and tell them what you need.

Make sure if you need a break that you stay where your therapist can see you.
